CINDS KITTEN IN BAPTISTRY.

IBY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES!

RIVERSIDE, June 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unusual presence of mind was evidenced by Dr. G. F. Holt, pastor of the First Baptist Church, last evening, when his secondly and thirdly were rudely interrupted by the yowling of a frightened cat. Adjuring his parishoners to pay no heed to the unearthly noise, which grew more ear-splitting every moment, the preacher raised his voice and went ahead. The ushers, meanwhile, went on a quiet hunt for the intruder, and after a long quest one in trepid searcher discovered a kitten struggling desperately to keep its head above the water in the baptistry, which had been used earlier in the evening in connection with the reception of new members. The rescuer received the thanks of the pastor and a meow of gratitude from the shivering

IN TODAY'S TIMES.

DECISION A SURPRISE. The decision was a great surprise Railroad lawyers and railroad presidents have felt that, when the direct issue of the alleged infringement of intrastate regulation by legislatures upon the national provision relating to the control of interstate commerce was brought before the highest tribunal, the absolute and monopolistic authority of the Federal government over rates would be established. The Supreme Court itself threw out a hint that the question might be so decided when the previous Minnesota cases were before it, several years ago. At that time the late Justice Peckham, in delivering the the State laws being by their natural effect an interference with interstate commerce—was not before the court. The court's language was construed by many as invitation to make a rect issue of the underlying quantum.

WHAT CONGRESS HAS DONE.

In this connection it is pointed out that Congress specifically provided that the provisions of the act to regulate commerce should not extend to transportation "wholly within one State." Aside from the terms of the general statute in this feature, the court feels obliged to take in consideration the range of State action at the time the national law was enacted and its own previous decisions recognizing and upholding this authority. It is pointed out that State regulation of rates began with railroad transportation and that the non-action of Congress in seeking to set up a standard for intrastate rates left the fixing of reasonable rates for transportation with the boundaries of a State just where it was found—with

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] ASHINGTON BUREAU OF W ASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Supreme Court of the United States this after oon handed down its long-delayed decision in the Minnesota rate case, unanimously sustaining State regulation of railroad rates per se.

It is a sweeping victory for the State rights doctrine in the matter of fixing maximum freight and par enger charges.

Ever since the Federal rate regu-lation law of 1906, known as the ontroversy has raged over the ques controversy has raged over the question of whether regulation of intrastate rates by the States was not an interference with interstate commerce, control of which the Constitution vests in Congress, It has been by far the most important issue raised since the general subject of rate regulation assumed the status, which the act of 1905 gave to it.

The Supreme Court holds that until Congress takes action looking to the establishment of unified control over interstate and intrastate rates, practically the only question to consider with respect to regulation laws enacted by a State is whether the fact of the establishment. This Congress may exercise the power of unifying control under the Federal authority is indicated from the language of the opinion which Justice Hughes delivered for the court today. But insamuch as Congress has not sought to do this, the several States are left free to regulate traffic within their own boundaries.

DECISION A SURPRISE.

The commander of the Yorktown ent word to Capt. C. E. Stewart the he would be glad to have the American citizens come aboard and inspect his trim vessel. This was fine, but there was much dissatisfaction when the officers of the Yorktown gave tea and limited their guests to eight of the San Juan's women passengers.

Capt. Stewart was accused of having discriminated and the situation became so aggravated that upon his arrival at Panama he demanded an investigation by the United States government inspectors. Those who were loudest in their protests are said to have failed to appear at the investigation, but said they would carry their charges to the Department at Washington.

Stewart told the protestors he had nothing to do with the invitation list on the warship. he would be glad to have the Ameri

In connection with the point last mentioned, the Supreme Court today held that the authority of the State in regulating transportation is not confined to a part of the State, but extends throughout the State, to the cities adjacent to its boundaries as well as to those in the interior. The railroads had complained that intrastate rates applied to the State's boundary or places within competitive districts crossed by the State line, imposed a special burden upon interstate commerce and created discriminations against localities in other States. [BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—All eight of the suspended policemen under indictment charging conspiracy with buncomen must stand trial together. Judge Lawler so ruled today in the Superior Court, in denial of a motion for severance by counsel for the defendants. The cases will be set for trial June 14.

Frank Esola, one of the eight, is to be sentenced tomorrow in fulfillment of his conviction of grand larceny last Friday night.

A petition for parole has been filed with the State Prison Board on behalf of Michael J. Conboy, former captain of police here, who is serving a term of three years at San Quentin for manslaughter. In June of 1909 Conboy shot and killed Bernard Lagan without cause, and after five trials was convicted in April of 1912.

Eastman indicated, however, that the company would refuse to dissolve.
"While in the formal part of the is a prayer for dissolution, as is usual,

I am informed, in all such cases," said
Mr. Eastman, "It is believed that full satisfy the trade at large and the government.

"Aside from the economic principles which would be violated by such dissolution it can clearly be shown that if the United States is to keep its lead in the photographic art which it has maintained for the last twenty years and meet competition in the markets of the world, the co-ordination of the manufacture of films, plates, papers and cameras must be continued. No concern that is unable to furnish products in all of these lines, adapted one to the other, can hope to compete with the great foreign manufacturers who are straining every effort in similar directions."

ing every effort in similar directions."

In compliance with the government's petition, the company, according to Mr. Eastman, intends hereafter to operate its various retail stock houses under its own name and add its name to their stationery and advertising matter. It also will put its name upon its stencil goods and abandon its "exclusive sales policy."

"One of the main points of this policy (respecting dealers in our patented goods handling no other similar goods) has been to prevent the substitution of goods that are inferior to ours to unsuspecting customers," said Mr. Eastman. "However, desiring to avoid a long and expensive litting to the substitution of goods that are inferior to ours to unsuspecting customers," said Mr. Eastman. Don't be satisfied with 4%---when your savings will earn 5% at this strong rapidly growing savings bank

D URING the past year and five months the Los Angeles Hibernian Savings Bank has conclusively demonstrated the fact that it can safely pay 5 per cent on term savings deposits.

This extra 1 per cent over what is usually paid by savings banks is made possible by the low rental of our large, light commodious quarters on the second floor of the centrally located Hibernian Building, and by other economies in administration.

We give our depositors the benefit of this saving in rent (which is equivalent to $36,000 per year) by paying 5 per cent interest—compounded semi-annually—on term savings deposits of any amount from $1 to $5000.

SACRAMENTO, June 9 .- [Excluive Dispatch I Lillian Belle Haskell.

sive Dispatch.] Lillian Belle Haskell, charged with the murder of Frank I. Fischer, who is now on trial for the second time, it is understood, was today given an opportunity by the District Attorney to plead guilty to manslaughter and take a sentence of three years in the penitentiary.

The attorney representing Mrs. Haskell said that she refused to plead guilty to manslaughter or any other charge and that the case would be fought to the end.

When Mrs. Haskell was brought into court this morning she was dryeyed and composed, and no indications of the hysteria which sevaral times seized her during the former trial was evidenced.

Only once during the day did Mrs. Haskell show signs of emotion. Just before the court was convened Mrs. R. C. Reeves, mother of the accused woman, left her seat beside other witnesses and going over to where her daughter set, leaned across the back of her chair and kissed her and whispered words of encouragement to her. Attorneys for the defense, in questioning the venire of fifty, indicated that at this trial, as at the first trial, the defense will set up a plea that at the time Mrs. Haskell shot Fischer she was temporarily insane, and that the insanity was produced by the treatment to which Fischer subjected the woman.

Dist.-Atty. Wachhorst in the questions propounded to the prospective jurors indicated that the prosecution proposes to show that the shooting was premeditated, that Mrs. Haskell was mentally responsible at the time she, shot, and that the crime committed is murder in the first degree.

WASHINGTON, June 9 .- The por of the States to fix reasonable inof value between interstate and intrastate business on a gross revenue hads and the apportionment of expeanese by regarding intrastate freight business as two and a half times as expensive as interstate business was expensive as interstate business was considered here as favorable to the State of Missouri in its fight to uphold the validity of the maximum were regarded as almost certain to win their rate cases, involving the validity of State freight rates.

DECISION DIGESTREP

win their rate cases, involving the validity of State freight rates.

DECISION DIGESTED.

The decision was announced by Justice Hughes. Justice Hughes considered the attack upon the State rates in two parts, the one that they placed an unlawful burden on interstate commerce, and the other that they were so low as to confiscate property of the railroads.

In considering the interstate commerce phase, he took it for granted that the State had the power to regulate rates between points within the State of Minnesota on railroads not crossing State lines and so far from the boundaries and not to compete with the cities of other States or otherwise affect interstate commerce. He sext reported the conclusion that intrastate railroads or interstate railroads, had not been regarded by the courts as being a direct regulation of interstate commerce.

The most intricate argument on this phase of the controvarus as personnel.

Among the laws which the States may pass indirectly affecting interstate commerce were mentioned State inspection laws, State employers' liability laws and quarantine regulations. He said that State rate making was to be classified with these.

"It has never been doubted," said he, "that the State could, if it saw fit, build its own highways, canals and railroads. Similarly, the authority of the State to prescribe what shall be reasonable charges of common carriers for intrastate transportation, unless it be limited by the exertion of the constitutional power of Congress, is Statewide.

"This Statewide authority of the statewide."

ries for intrastate transportation, unless it be limited by the exertion of the constitutional power of Congress, is Statewide.

This Statewide authority controls the carrier and is not controlled by it and the idea that the power of the State to fix reasonable rates for its internal trame is limited by the mere action of the carrier in laying an instruction of the conference and its instruction of the subject, a limitation may not be implied because of a dormant Federal power.

In taking up the confiscatory phase of the controversy, Justice Hughes were confiscatory as applied to the Worthern Perific. He said this would turn upon what was the "fair value" of the railroad's property. He decion that the lower court was in ermain and 200 per cent. to the normances and 200 per cent at the big clarify in arriving at what the ducing its property.

Justice Hughes said the railroad would have no ground to complain if equal to the fair average market in criticising the apportionment of trastate business upon the "gross revibal division Justice Hughes said that ins the courts plan of apportioning expenses and the basis." Justice Hughes said that his use when the measured by the return, ton, the return itself was in question the basis. Justice Hughes said the railroad that he measured by the return, ton, the return itself was in question the basis of apportioning expenses.

He next considered the lower court's plan of apportioning expenses that it cost two and a fraight business as it did to do intrastate

He said that the expenses had not been kept separately in the accounts or the statistics of the company and that testimony as to the difference in expenses varied widely, and that the intricate question of whether the rates were confiscately could not be decided on proof of such a general character. Applying these principles to the Northern Pacific, the Justice held that neither the value of the property employed nor the share of expenses attributable to intrastate business had been proved satisfactorily to show that the railroad's property was confiscated. A similar conclusion was reached by applying the principles to the Great Northern Railroad.

SAN FERNANDO

San Fernando, less than twenty miles distant from Los Ange offers a safe and good field for real estate investment. The near completion of the Aqueduct and the assured water supply is caus ing thousands of people to look that way—and looking there they see one of the finest and most fruitful sections of Southern California-one where thousands of people will congregate and enjoy prosperity and contentment in the Long before Los Angeles has 1,000,000 population. San Fernando and the section around about will have its allotment of 20,000 or more.

This in turn makes the doubling and trebling of much of the real estate in that section.

A Suggestion

Conservative Investors

After personal property and other taxes are paid the ordinary investment does not seem so attractive. A NET INCOME is what you get when purchasing organization of the principal and interest is guaranteed by the Company with a fully paid capital of 1,000,000. Our security is first mortgage security, such as the laws favor for Life Insurance Companies. Savings Banks and all conservative trust investments.

Ask for booklet "Guaranteed Mortgages as an Investment." Better still, talk the matter over with our officers.

AVERAGE AGE OF PEOPLE.

The Span of Life Has Increas with Man, But Has Great Variation with Plants Animals and Insects. with Plants, Animais and Insects.

[Harper's Weekly:] In the Middle Ages the average span of human life was about 30 years. The average among civilized peoples is now about 40 years. The startling prophecy that man would some time only begin to with the properties of the properties of the properties of the properties. understand life at 100 does not man would some time only begin to understand life at 100 does not seem so unreasonable perhaps when we so unreasonable perhaps when we so unreasonable perhaps when we consider the span of life allotted to would make and to other animals.

There exists at the present time in the Island of Ceylon, a tree which lise 2000 years old. The plant as a James L. Boy. County Hostings and the suburbs of Athens travelers are shown the olive tree of Plato, which is 2000 years old. The plant as in tree of Hippocrates, the father of medicine, is 2300 years old, while the glant redwood trees of California are estimated to have lived at least twenty centuries. Tourists in Hildeshein, Germany, are never allowed to pass the famous so-called thousand-year rose bush in the grounds of the cathedral.

The list of legendary trees might be idedenifely extended, and world trees include the chestnuits of Etra, the wallut trees of St. Nicholas, in Lorena; the olives of Jerusalem, the yew trees of Yorkshire, Eng., which are considered the oldest trees in the world.

These figures are taken from the date of Dr. Legrand, a well-known in the state of the control of the cathedral.

These figures are taken from the data of Dr. Legrand, a well-known French naturalist. He also points out singular differences in the longevity of animals of varying species. The crocodile and the carp live, he says, 300 years, the elephant and the whale 200, the falcon 150, the parrot and the eagle 100, the lion and the rhinoceros 60, the goose, common pike and pelican, 50; the hart and vulture, 40; the ass, bull and camel, 20; the horse, 25; the peacock, from 22 to 25; the pig, bear, cow, pigeon, cat, dog, deer, wolf and the fresh-water lobster, 20 years; the duck, nightingale, lark, fox and pheasant, 15; canary and the cricket average 10, the rabbit lives 8 and the squirrel and hare 7.

Insects which undergo metomorphosis live usually from one to two years, and there are flies whose span of life is one day. Nature, it will be seen, shows man no special favor or disfavor among the animals. The absence of epidemics which has disappeared at the edict of science, together with intelligence in the matter of living, is the chief cause which is favoring and will in the future favor man's longevity.

English statistics show that women born of large families live to the greatest age. The United States census in 1850 showed that 77 women and 24 men over 90 years of age.

BALTIMORE, June 9.—[Special
Dispatch.] In a blaze of oratory before an enthusiastic audience that crowded the great Fifth Regiment Armory the first session of the annual conference of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America was called to order this morning by President George W. Coleman. The Governor of the State, Phillip Golsborough, Mayor James H. Preston and the president of the Baitimore Advertising Club, Col. Edward J. Shay, all told the delegates they were welcome to anything they wanted in Baitimore or Maryland, and if they wanted anything they did not see, all they needed to do was to ask for it.

Plain Frederick E. Johnson of Dallas, Texas, told the Marylanders how much obliged they were for the cordial welcome and assured them that with characteristic modesty the order this morning by President of the Capitol on went to his death o that with characteristic modesty the ad men would take full advantage the kind invitation.

The reports of President Coleman, Secretary Flore and Treasurer Mekeel were read and disposed of in short order and the interesting part of the day's proceedings was the election of a new president and the selection of a place for the next meeting.

This work did not prove nearly as hard as had been expected. William Woodhead of San Francisco was named as the new president and Toronto was selected as the next meeting place. It had been reported that Chicago was going after the meeting. The Chicago boom did not gain much support. T'LL NEVER ASK EYTON TO REFEREE AGAIN"—M'CAREY

Oh, Myt

As a Result of the Row Over the Dundee-Wolgast Affair Charley Eyton May Go to Another Club or Fight a Duel With the Irate Tom Jones - Maybe Both. Eyton Says Pistols, Jones Fists.

BY HARRY CARR.

Referee Charles Eyton

Has served his ultimatum on Tom McCarey, who smiles and says, "Oh, very well."

ON'T read this if you have a weak heart. It's something terrible. DON'T read this if you have a weak heart. It's something terrible.

Uncle Torm McCarey, the fight promoter, and Charley Eyton, the referee, "have a mad" on each other. They don't speak. And that's not all. Eyton says he will never referee another fight at Vernon, and McCarey says he never will be asked to.

Tom Jones, trate fight manager of Ad Wolgast—horrible to relate—wants to fight a duel with Mr. Eyton. He offers Eyton odds. He says Eyton can use a revolver while he will rely on his fists.

In case Mr. Eyton does not accept this challenge, he—Tom Jones—will meet him on the street and do divers dreadful things in the way of physical violence. Of course, Tom can't regist offering to make a little handbook violence. Of course, Tom can't resist offering to make a little handbook on the result.

Eyton is on record to the effect that Jones is a "cheap tinhorn sport;" that McCarey is a "cry baby" and a—well—um, you know—one who tells different things to different people.

EYTON'S SARCASM.

This awful crisis came about because Charley Eyton's typewriter is equipped with a hair-trigger. Besides being one of the best referees in the world, Charley is also one of the most sensitive. When something appears in the public prints that offends him, Charley turns to his ready writing machine and tears off a column or more of seething sarcasm.

bashful way, burst into the ring like a runsway bull, yelling that Eyton's decision was robbery.

The next day Charley unleashed a flaming package of literature, in which he suggested that Jones go back to driving a coal wagon and called him a "tinhorn short-sport." I don't know what a short sport is, but it must be something awful; for the two have been bitter enemies ever since.

THE ULTIMATUM.

When the Wolgast-Dundee match was made McCarey was waited upon by the two enemies—Jones to inform McCarey that Eyton couldn't referee the fight; Eyton to say that Jones could not be in Wolgast's corner.

When McCarey swarded the decision to Jones, Eyton notified the promoter that he would expect to draw his salary anyhow. He said unless this salary was paid to him, whether he refereed the Wolgast-Dundee bout or not, he would never step into a ring again at Vernon; but darkly intimated that he might officiate at some other new club.

As the Dundee fight was called off, everyone was anxious to know yesterday whether or not Eyton and McCarey would make up and continue their relations.

NEVER AGAIN FOR EYTON.

I found Tom sitting in an automobile in front of the fight headquarters in a fainting condition. He had just heard from Scotty Monteith that Dundee thought he ought to have 40 per cent. of the house to fight Jack White.

Tom squirmed and looked uncomfortable when asked if Eyton would ever referee again. "I'm a man of peace," said Tom. "My religion teaches me to be. Mr. Eyton says he doesn't want to referee for my club any more and says in the paper that I am a cry baby sind that he has done so much for fighting in Los Angeles that he ought to have 25 per cent. of the receipts. I am not going to pay him anything like that; so I guess that ends his connection with boxing as far as I am concerned. I shall never ask him to referee again."

nection with boxing as far as I am concerned. I shall never ask him to referee again."

While we were talking Tom Jones came bustling up to the auto with the giant Jess Willard in his tow. He caught the word "Eyton."

"I can lick that big stiff who said I couldn't be in Ad's corner," he shouted. "I have never gone to the papers and tried to get them to answer him back for me. I will settle it with him myself. He carries a gun for me and I'll let him keep the gun. I'll give that much odds. I want somebody to go around and see Eyton for me and tell him I'll meet him anywhere he says. I'll meet him in five minutes from now."

Tom reached into his pocket and pulled out a roll of bills about the size of a national bank reserve. "I've had a bad year, but I'm not quite broke," he said. 'I'll bet this whole roll that I can lick that Eyton."

By this time such a crowd had gathered around that the police had to shoe the people along the sidewalk.

EYTON AND M'CAREY.

EYTON AND M'CAREY.

Later in the afternoon Eyton and McCarey, by an embarrassing circumstance, sat in the same box at the ball game. Both maintained a frigid and horrifying silence and a majestic indifference. In the face of their haughty calm, it is no wonder that neither the Hap Hogans nor the Wolves could play ball.

As McCarey couldn't see Dundee for 40 per cent. of the house to fight Jack White, there will be no fight at Vernon until the latter part of this month. Hence there will be time to cool off.

It is the hope of everyone that the breach will be healed and Eyton will be on the job again by the time Campi fights Le Doux.

Although somewhat temperamental, Eyton has a record unique among referees. In every mail I get letters from some enraged fighter telling about the "rotten deal" he has had at the hands of some referee in the East. No

Yankees Win Both Matches With Australians.

American Team Picked for Final Play.

Williams Puts Up Splendid Battle With Rice.

(BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.) NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 9.-[Special Dispatch.] Maurice E. McLoughlin, the Califor nia comet, as the Australian dubbed him, added the third point and the decisive one of the tally of the Ame ican score, in the concluding singles matches of the Davis lawn tennis cup the fiery national champion sent the series today. In sensational fashion the fiery national champion sent the ball crashing to the turf courts of the West Side Tennis Club. defeating Stanley N. Doust, the captain of the Australian team, in straight sets by the score of 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

As McLoughlin sent the last ball sizzling through his courts for the match point, Doust ran to the net, congratulated his opponent and then picking up the megaphone turned it on the five thousand spectators and called for cheers for the American team. There was a rousing response, for never before in the history of the great international contests in this country has such true blue sportsmanship been displayed. It was contagious, Instantly about the stands men rose up calling for cheers for the plucky Australian captain and they echoed back with a will.

It was with inspiration like this that R. Norris Williams, the young American who created such a stir upon the courts last season, undertook the task of defeating Horace Rice. He turned the trick with a hair-raising finish winning at 1-6, 4-6, 6-1, 9-7, 6-2, after the Australian had twice been within a point of capturing the laurels of the battle.

As a result of the series the Americans scored four points, their victories in the singles, while the Australians win one point by their winning of the sensational doubles match Saturday.

TEAM ANNOUNCED. Immediately following the deciding matches Robert D. Wrenn, the chairman of the international committee, and George Ade made the unexpected announcement that Maurice E. McLoughlin, R. Norris Williams and Harold H. Hackett would still for McLoughlin, R. Norris Williams and Harold H. Hackett would sail for England on Thursday aboard the Baltic along with the Australians. The Americans have been entered in the English championship tournament, which begins on the courts at Wimbledon on Monday, June 23.

A fourth member of the team has been selected in Wallace F. Johnson, of Pennsylvania. It is the opinion of the men that they need practice in England in order to fit them for the Davis cup, which will not be decided until the first part of July.

There was no fault to find with the courts today for the wind and sun had made the playing surfaces lightning made the playing surfaces lightning fast. In fact, before the matches were staged Julian S. Myrick along with McLoughlin made positive statements that the rain had no effect with the statements.

with McLoughin made positive statements that the rain had no effect whatsoever in slowing down the playing surfaces. Both declared that it was the superior team work of Doust and Jones together with their wonderful uphill fight at the end of the fifth set that turned the tide in favor of the Australians.

Doust started the service in the contest that was to send the Americans along a point further toward the recovery of the cup. He began auspiciously with a service ace. The Australian captain followed his service into the net in the game with such success that he won. McLoughlin was taking no chances. He sent his own service bounding high to his opponent, smashing the returns when he got one and hazarding everything for a kill. His daring was successful. Doust was outspeeded and the American recled off three games in rapid order.

DOUST SHOWS CLASS.

The Australian's service, with its tricky break, helped him along so that the next four games followed service, Doust's range of court was perfert and in the eighth game so cunningly did he force the American as to bring about rallies, which sent the spectators applauding. He made wonderful gets as McLoughlin lobbed over his head. His efforts were futile, however, for the American scored the game, continuing on to win the set at 6-4.

Throughout the next two sets ever, for the American scored the game, continuing on to win the set at 6-4.

Throughout the next two sets Doust kept his drives going at a tremendous pace. He made the ball bite the lines swinging it into the corners of the court and occasionally meeting McLoughlin at close range for a brief session at volleying at the net. At times the crossing shots of the Australian had the kick of a Kangarco.

When he played them most sharply at angles, McLoughlin could not get the ball. The American, however, went at his old smashing over head game. It was the dependable one for him and he smothered Doust under the burning speed. Doust tried to feed low bounders deep into the American's court and when he was able to bring off the shot the weakness of the American was at once apparent. The only difficulty was that the Australian could not do it often enough, McLoughlin gradually wearing him out until he scored the deciding game of the match at love. Then it was that Doust made the demonstration which will live long in the history of the lawn, tennis of this country and of the Davis cup.

The decisive game had taken an hour and after the court had been groomed. Williams and Rice, the latter wearing his knickerbockers and black stockings, took the field. The American opened with the service and it was at once evident that he was off his game, for he had little control, his length being poorly calculated. He won the first game as Rice likewise failed to rally by driving the ball outside in aiming for the corners. Rice had taken the measure of his opponent in this game. He held him to driving thereafter, teasing him now and then with a lob which Williams attempted to smash. It was

The blood-letting was staged in the tenth canto of this epic, when, with the score nine all and each side shaking for an ace, the Tigers came to bat. Carlisle persuaded Jack Lively to serve up four tainted ones and was allowed to go to first base as a just reward for patience and rare judgment. Paul Meloan, the next swatter, rolled an easy one to Eddie Hallinan at third and was heaved out at first. Carlisle, in his exuberance of youthful spirit, overran the keystone pillow on the play, and Thomas Tennant saw a chance to nab the speedy waiter amidships. Undoubtedly Tom had the best intentions in the world, but his execution was awful.

GRUELLING WORK.

The fourth set brought out some grueiling racquet work. Rice got the lead at 3-2 on games by breaking through Williams's service by playing the ball low to his backhand. Right there Williams made a sensational stand. He dug up Rice's favorite shot across court, to his backhand, and sent the ball back for slashing passes. By sheer tactics and skillful handling of the racquet he carried the games to 5-3 in his favor.

Rice fought back desperately. He brought the games level to five all and took the lead again at 7-6. It was in the next game that he led at 40-15 on his service and was twice within a point of taking the contest when Williams rallied for a phenomenal array of placed drives and volleys that turned the edge off defeat into a victory.

There a stop will be made and the boosters who have worked hard for the race will be met by the National driver.

The National driver.

The National will be the first car to follow the official route. This course will be chosen this morning by L. T. Shettler, chairman of the Los Angeles-San Francisco Road Race Committee. The mileage will also be measured for the first time. Dingley has been chosen as route-blazer and the data, with a letter from Chairman Shettler, will be handed to the committeeman in each town touched by the official car.

MANY ENTRIES.

With thirty-five entries in the great race the contest wil. be the most sensational road race ever held. The cars will touch Stockton. This has been decided. The route from Stockton to San Francisco is still an open question. The cars will be routed through the towns where the citizens show the greatest desire for the race. There is a possibility that the racers will not touch San Jose.

From Los Angeles, the official route will be the San Francisquito Canyon, but use of the Boquet will be permitted. The next checking point will be Bakersfield. From there the route will lead to Terra Eella, Famosa, going to the west of Ducor. There will be checking points at Porterville and Lindsay and then the road goes direct to Tulare and over the main highway to Fresno.

There will be checking stations at Madera, Merced, Modesto and Stockton. They will leave Stockton by way of French Camp. The route from there on is to be decided by the San Francisco Committee. This committee will meet tomorrow and when the National Francisco should have been settled. George Williams yesterday entered the Pullman, the car in which he almost met his death when wrecked in a recent road race. His relief driver will be H. J. Proffit and the two men expect to place that Pullman at least among the first five winners. Williams is a nervy pilot and will ride all the way and will drive the Pullman as far as Fresno. At that point Proffit will take the helm and drive to the finish.

Barney Oldfield yesterday changed his entry from the Mercer to the Flat. The 120-horse-power entry was made by the speed king, who will be at the helm of the high-powered car. The shill be a like of the state of walking on thin air, so unusued were they to an early lead.

THE SHOWER:

Then the Tigers came to bat, and it showered runs, five to be exact, and ten men had faced Mr. Klawitter Rowdy Elliott making the first and hast outs of the inning. Harkness, heartened by this unexpected turn in affairs, began to slip 'em over with eclat. It looked like a moral certainty in the fifth when Brashear, Hosp and O'Rourke scored on a combination of one hit aind two errors with a base on balls thrown in for good masure. Exit Klawitter, enter Jack Lively, who stopped the horror, but only for a moment. In the sixth Meloan scored, running the total up to 9 to 3. At this point the most rabid church member in the crowd would have bet a month's pewerent that the men from Sacramento were rank selling platers at best.

Be that as it may, in the seventh five large ripe runs were hustled across the plate by the up-State hands. Lively, first man up, tripled to right center. Anybody—else could have made it a homer, but Jack is not very strong on wind. Kenworthy doubled to right and Jack scored. Hallinan poked sharply to left, putting Ken on third. Shinn singled to left, ken scoring, Hallinan going to second. Both moved up a peg, when Lewis grounded out to Piano-legs Brashear at first. Moran shouldered his young totem pole and walloped a single to center, scoring the two eager young men aiready on the bases. This made four, but yet another was due to lingle the rubber.

NAUGHTY JIM FHINN.

Moran bumped one to P. O'Rourke, close to the lee rail of second base. Pat had a terrible time with the ball, but nailed Moran at first. Here Shinn pulled off a daring bit of larceny. Eveverybody in the house conceded him third base on the play, but none of us thought he would be so cruel as Orpheum.

A spectacle that has grace, beauty and color is "Kriss Kringle's Dream," in which the Top o' the World Dancers, a bevy of shapely and attractive girls, appear at the Orpheum this week. Fun, frolic and a good time generally characterize this cleverly conceived and executed musical comedy in little. The humorous pantomimic work of Harry Ali as Peppermint Kid, of Paul Moulton as Jack-in-the-Box, and of Harry Hewitt as Polar Bear is exceedingly good. Vivian Ford makes a charming Doll Princess, though when she sings she entirely neglects the very important detail of enunciation, leaving us in the dream ends with the interesting "Colle Ballet," introducing five well-trained dogs.

Comes Laddle Cliff again. He's that rosy youth from England who knows his business as an entertainer—as, indeed, most vaudeville importations from across the pond seem to do. Laddle brings with him some jolly new songs and dance steps which he understands jolly well how to get dut of his lithe and blithe young system, Comes, too; Jessie Busley, with a department store playlet by Rupert Hughea, its main ingredients being lady clerks, an elegant gentleman floor-walker, a naughty masher and a fussy shopper. "Miss 318" is the name of the playlet, which is funny, if a triffe crude, and just a little pathetic, too. Rupert Hughes is never quite convincing as a playwright—he's too "smart" to be a good artist. However, Miss Busley has opportunities to do some clever character work in the part of Lissette Mooney, the wise but virtuous saleslady.

Lester, the ventriloquist, is accompanied by a manikin who's the sassiest ever and talks back in a shocking way—helping, though, to convince us that Lester has mastered to its finish the difficult art of conversing from his diaphragm.

The two Wilsons, a guy and a girl, patter and dance and sing in a skit entitled "The Messenger, the Maid and the Violin," and the man lets us hear that he is a muisician as well as a comedian.

And the hollow-voiced talking motion pictures gives a little musical farce entitled "An After-College Reunion."

That interesting phenomenon, Don, the talking dog, remains over from last week, as do those wonderfully pretty butterflies, the Curzon Sisters, and Ben Linn, the fat singer of coon Pantages.

Lasky's six, hoboes, in their wildly hilarious travesty on the life of tramps, "On the Road," remain over at Pantages Theater from last week—and it must be admitted, that they are as funny on second sight as they were a week ago. As laugh-bringers they are all to the good.

In "The Doll Maker's Dream," little June Roberts has a chance to display her diminutive voice, her sense for clever comedy, and her agility as a dancer. June looks to be about 6 years old—as talented a kid as you've seen on the stage for many a day. She is assisted by three other capable people—presumably her poppa, her momma and a sister a few years older momma and a sister a few years older than herself.

Clara Howard is billed as a maker of vivacious comedy. At first she didn't show this talent—seemed, indeed, to lack spontaneity, though she assured us, in song, that we'd like her when we got used to her. She was right. We liked her very much in a short time, and found her as full of bubbles and sparkles as a glass of champagne just poured to the brim.

PRINCETON (N. J.) June 9 ceton and Yale played off their ie of Saturday on University Field tie of Saturday on University Field today, and it took twelve innings to decide the issue, the Elis winning by 5 to 4. As Yale won the first game between the two teams at New Haven on May 31, today's game gave them the series. It is the first time in four years that the Elis have captured the series, and the first time since 1895 that they have won two straight games from the Tigers.

Yale won the game in the twelfth when Middlebrook singled, stole second and third, and tallied when Gill played Blossom's grounder to first instead of to the plate. Score:

Walsh, from New South Wales, Australia, was the only batsman to reach double figures in the first innings. Higgins, Riley, Bamford, Powles and Hornidge mere the heavy scorers in the second venture. Walsh hit the first six of the season when he drove Packman clean out of the field. Megget had the honor of sending down the first maiden over, his first six deliveries being unplayable.

Next Sunday a match will be played at Exposition Park, when the first seelven members will play the rest. The team has to put in some strenous work before tackling the northern eleven, which is particularly strong in bowling. A meeting will be held at Room 204, Higgins building on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, when the matter of supplies and membership will be settled.

Two men at Balboa found a good run of surf and croaker and in addition, got twenty bass, for a total weight of seventy-one pounds. They used salted sardines as bait.

T. C. Quinn went to Balboa Sunday and says he caught seven surfifsh, one gopher snake and seven sharks which is a combination about as strong as the breath of some fishermen.

But are they?

Prices are oftentimes purposely set high on some car so that the dealer may offer an apparent discount.

The person who is most injured by the "cut price" is not the dealer—it is the man who buys the car.

Another point, and one that hinges very closely on this cut price error, is that of annual depreciation cost of a car. In figuring cost of upkeep of a car not many men take into consideration the selling price of their old car. The time comes to every motor car buyer when he wants another car. Improvements are made,
